Yes Productions

Yes Productions was created to preserve, enhance, and highlight the American experience through film, drama, and art. Known simply as “Yes,” we endeavor to deliver the message young, empowered & self-aware. In this era of change, our mission is to teach and model an appreciation for all cultures, backgrounds, races, genders, and ethnicities.

This organization achieves its goals through:

Film

We believe that there are many stories yet to be told—Informative stories that can educate, entertain, and empower a multiethnic society immersed in change.

Audiences will be exposed to this rich resource through:

- Documentaries
- Major Film productions
- Infomercials
- Local Television

Drama

Through drama plays, we will challenge our audiences’ worldview. Becoming an egalitarian society requires a realistic view of history. While highlighting this truism, we will move the audience to laughter, joy, and a greater understanding of true obligation and citizenship. By doing so, we will create a new axiom.

Our Projects:

- Oklahoma History
- American Identity
- Post-racism

Arts

A necessary element to any successful production component is the Arts. Music, paintings, poetry, and the emerging spoken word genre, convey messages to a new generation. We will use this media by:

- Developing Artists
- Offering Poetry classes and programs
- Creating outlets for social expression

“Art enables us to find ourselves and lose ourselves at the same time.”
– Thomas Merton

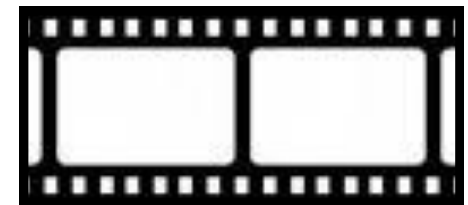

At the core of American democracy is participation. Through our organization, we are committed to teaching civil engagement and community responsibility. Tomorrow’s dramas, plays, and documentaries must tell relatable stories. An educated democracy will ensure a stronger America.

We will play our part through:

- Educational productions
- Civic engagement
- Non-partisan portrayals of American life

Diversity

Yes Productions embraces the importance of advancing our country from tolerance to coexistence. Our constitution declares, “We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty, and the Pursuit of Happiness.” Yes Productions acknowledges and celebrates the nuances of American culture. Our greatness lies in our uniqueness.
